

Student Committees Begin Preparation for 46th Annual Homecoming

Student Senate Plans Survey; Students Will Be Asked to Help

The Student Senate, the student governing body on the campus composed of elected representatives from each class, has made initial plans for a survey project which will be conducted during the fall semester.

The survey is to be made of the college age people in this vicinity and in the various areas served by the College. The three points which will be covered in the project are:

- (1) Why did the student come to Maryville? (2) Why did not college age people go to college? and (3) If they did go on to college, why did they not come to Maryville?

The questionnaires are to be prepared within the next month and will be distributed to the student body just prior to the Thanksgiving vacation. In this way, the students can obtain the necessary information from their associates in their home town. When completed questionnaires are returned, the information will be compiled and tabulated for the use of the College.

School Dance Band Takes New Name

Those who were present at the Sadies Hawkins dance must have noticed the bright uniforms on the dance band. This was the first dance played by the "new" Collegians. The new jackets signify the re-organization of the band. The band, which last year was known as Jack Moore and his Collegians, is now a co-operative venture and will be called just the "Collegians."

The band consists of six pieces. Curt Gaffney, a senior music major from Craig, plays piano. Allen Spies, a junior music major from Cumberland, Iowa, plays saxophone and clarinet. Gordon Robertson, who is a transfer student from Warrensburg is a music major from Fillmore. Gordon is the new trumpet man.

Charles Watson, who is the vocalist and trombone man, is another music major from Fillmore. Jack Moore is from Maryville. He is a senior music major and is playing bass in the band this year. The noise maker, or drummer, is Burl Walter, a music minor from Shenandoah, Iowa.

All of the band are members of the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity excepting Gordon Robertson and Jack Moore.

Ernie Connell Is Quadrangle Mayor

Ernie Connell, senior physical education and industrial arts major, has been chosen in a recent election to serve as the new mayor of all the quads.

He will head the quad council, composed of two men from each quad, except quad six, which has three representatives because of its larger size.

Chosen as members of the council are Dick Buckridge, Bill Corken, Larry Belt, John England, Sam Bell, Don Warford, Ken Reynolds, Jack Kinder, Orville Lippold, Dwayne Cox, and John Garner.

Mr. Lon Wilson, Dean of Men, is the director of the council, which will co-operate with the Residence Hall council in planning some social functions. The quad council is also working on plans for Homecoming decorations. Part of the council's goal is to promote clean living and wholesome recreation.

Represent A. A. C. T. E.
Dr. J. W. Jones, Dr. W. A. Brandenburg, Mr. Robert Foster, and Dr. Leon Miller are representing the A. A. C. T. E. on an intervisitation trip on accreditation at the University of Omaha.

'Antigone' Will Be Presented by Dramatics Club

Northwest Missouri State College Dramatics Club will present a translated version of the Greek drama, "Antigone," to College students, November 25 and 26.

"Antigone," the French version translated by Lewis Galantier, recently starred Katherine Cornell as Antigone and was produced in modern dress.

Summary
The sons of Oedipus, late king of the ancient Greek city of Thebes, have started a civil war and in the following conflict both are killed. Their uncle, Creon, then becomes regent.

Creon ordains that one of the brothers, who had in his opinion provoked the civil war, be left unburied. Antigone, an individualist clinging to a higher law, covers the body of her dead brother with earth.

Punishment
For defying his order, Creon has her buried alive as punishment. This act brings about the death of his son who was in love with Antigone. This in turn provokes Creon's wife to take her own life. These events finally bring about Creon's own ruin.

This version of the ancient Greek legend comes from Paris, France. The play's parallels to modern time are very apparent.

The dates for tryouts will be announced later.

Haddad Supplies Music for Dance At Homecoming

Eddie Haddad and his orchestra will provide the music for the annual Homecoming Dance in the College gymnasium on Saturday, November 1.

Dubbed the "friendliest band in the land," Haddad has become well known from his appearances throughout the Mid-West. The orchestra has appeared in Kansas City, Omaha, and Wichita night clubs and at proms at the University of Minnesota and the University of Nebraska.

Eddie Haddad has made numerous radio and television appearances in recent months. The orchestra has, for the past two years, been featured on "Campus Cavalcade" on radio station KFAB in Omaha.

Featured with the orchestra are Suby Caniglia, one of the outstanding ballad singers of the country, vocalist Ray Cox, and the famous Haddad Glee Club.

Tickets for the Homecoming Dance are being handled by a committee composed of Dixie Morehouse, Jo Ellen Wilson, Jean McClurg, Mr. Luther Belcher, Mr. Clifford Kensing, Dr. Kelly Sowards, Mr. George Gayler, and Mr. Harold Mulford.

Raymond Butt Wins First
Raymond Butt of Westboro was a member of the Atchison County 4-H livestock judging team which placed first at the Interstate show in St. Joseph. Raymond is a sophomore in the College and is majoring in agriculture.

High School Bands Will Participate In Homecoming

Many bands from Northwest Missouri high schools will be on the campus October 1 to take part in the annual Homecoming parade.

The bands that have entered parade competition are Princeton Breckenridge, Oregon, Rock Port Maysville R-L, Hopkins, Burlington Junction, Maryville High, Lower Stewartville, Graham, Parnell, Craig, Stanberry, Platte City Maitland, Gallatin, Bethany, Hamilton Grant City, Mound City, Weston, and Palmyra. Other bands may enter in the competition later.

Following the parade in the morning, a lunch will be served in the Administration Building to more than nine hundred visiting students and instructors. Seats will be reserved in the stadium for the bands and ratings for the different class groups will be announced at the half. Hostesses have been assigned to the bands and will guide them through the day.

Assembly Opens Queen Contest For Homecoming

Plans are now underway for the selection of the Homecoming Queen, reports the committee chairman, Joan Kowitz. Organizations on the campus have been asked to submit their nominations this week, and a special assembly will be held today to select the five final candidates.

Other students serving on the committee are James Totten and John Garner. Dr. Sterling Surrey, Dr. Frank Grube, and Mr. Harold Mulford will act as faculty advisers. The float that will bear the queen in the Homecoming Parade will be constructed by volunteers from the freshman class.

Agriculture Class Offers Students Much Practical Judging Experience

By MELVA HEITS
An elementary but very interesting freshman course offered by the agriculture department is the Types and Market Classes of Livestock. It is one of the required courses in the agriculture department, and attempts to give the students some ability in judging livestock.

The history and development of the livestock industry with reference to market requirements and demands is studied in the classroom. Covering hogs, sheep, and beef cattle, the course deals with the various types and classes of livestock found not only on the market, but on the farm as well.

Field Trips Are Planned
As part of the laboratory work in the course, many field trips are planned to give the student as much practical experience as he can get.

The students are taken to cattle shows and sales to give them a better mental picture of desired livestock that will make efficient gains in the feed lot and on pasture. Trips of this type that have already been taken were to the Nodaway County 4-H Baby Beef Show and to the Nodaway County Aberdeen Angus Breeders' Show and Sale. Later in the year the students will journey to the American Royal where they will see both highly finished beef types and the breeding animals.

Will Visit Packing Plant
In order that the class may see the end products of the livestock that they have studied and judged, a field trip to a packing plant is to be made.
Supplementing their classroom work in which they have been studying the teeth of various animals as a way of determining their ages, the eighteen members of the class made a trip to the Southfork Farm, October 8, where they ob-

Cornelia Stabler Presents Assembly

Cornelia Stabler, monologist, will present a program of her Original Character Sketches in the auditorium at 10 o'clock on October 22.

She calls her sketches "Personality Portraits" for they are veritable word-pictures of the people one meets every day. Her repertoire of twenty sketches includes a busy secretary, a lady lecturer, the mother of a family of radio fans, an elderly actress who is giving a party, and a modern teen-ager coming home from a date.

Miss Stabler, who is the author as well as the interpreter of her monologues, has presented them from coast to coast in this country, and has also toured Europe for U. S. O. Camp Shows.

She has been heard on the major radio networks, has appeared on television, and had the honor of entertaining at the White House for the late President and Mrs. Roosevelt. During the summer months she directs a Community Theatre in the Pocono resort area of Pennsylvania.

President J. W. Jones, James Johnson, and Miss Anna Gorsuch are the newly elected delegates of the Community Teachers Association to the convention which will be held in Kansas City, November 6-7. Officers of the Association are Mr. Johnson, president; Mrs. Avis Graham, secretary and treasurer.

The Community Teachers Association works in cooperation with the national and state organizations to promote educational interests. The local association sponsors the Future Teachers of America on the campus. The latter organization is for young people who are interested in the teaching profession.

Dr. Leon Miller, Miss Bonnie McGill, and Mr. Myrl Long are this year's directors of the Community Teachers Association.

Lorene Bruckner Summers Returns

Lorene Bruckner Summers, a graduate of the College in the class of 1926, was on the campus Friday visiting with faculty friends. Louise Wintermute Writes From Midwolda, Netherlands

Midwolda, Netherlands—September 21, 1952

Dear Friends:

Again I have a new "home." Last week I came here to the village of Midwolda, which is a little less than ten miles from Germany, in a very good farming region. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer live alone in the house, for their daughter is married and has emigrated to South Africa. Their son is now in the army, but will return to the farm when he is discharged next April.

The sugar beets and potatoes are now being harvested on this farm. Mr. Meyer sells his potatoes to a large factory near here where they are made into potato flour, which is used in cooking much the same way as we use corn starch.

Visits Utrecht

On Saturday, September 13, I went to Utrecht to visit a family whom O. H. Dahlgren family, formerly of Bedford and now of Kansas know. The Dahlgrens sent packages to the van der Brul family after the war, and the friendship that was formed in that way still goes on.

The van der Bruls showed me many interesting places in and around Utrecht. Each Saturday is market day there, especially for selling cattle. The dairy cattle, mostly Holstein - Frisians, are brought by farmers who want to sell them, from farms in that area, to a great open square in the city of Utrecht. There the farmers who want to buy come to make their purchases. Though cattle are the main items of sale, many other farm products and animals are in the market.

Sees Home of the Kaiser

While I was visiting in Utrecht, we went to the neighboring village of Doorn to see the home where the German Kaiser lived from 1920 until he died. It is many expensive items of gold and silver. The whole house has very costly furnishings, but to me, it seems gaudy in its decoration. Even the wood of the furniture is elaborately carved, and covered with gold paint. For simple comfort and happiness, I will gladly choose an Iowa farm home.

From Utrecht I went to The Hague where the Netherlands IFYE committee had made plans for us to see the Queen as she opens the Parliament.

Attends Parliament Ceremony

This ceremony is held annually and is a real tradition in the Netherlands. The government office buildings and the Parliament buildings are built around a great open square called the Binnenhof. The Queen rides in her golden carriage from the official palace to the open square where she enters the Parliament building, and reads a speech to the lawmakers. Because the ceremony is so old, it carries with it many traditions and customs.

Arrangements were made so that one from our group could sit in the room where she made the speech, another could sit upstairs and look from a window overlooking the square, and the rest of us could stand at the edge of the square itself to see the procession. All of these places required special tickets, so we IFYE's felt very fortunate to have such fine reservations.

Watches Parade of Dignitaries

I watched each of the cabinet officers come riding in, in his black carriage pulled by beautiful black horses, driven by a uniformed and bewigged driver, and attended by a uniformed coachman. At last the Queen and her husband, Prince Bernhard, rode into the Binnenhof in the golden coach which was presented to the royal family years ago by the city of Amsterdam. The Queen and the Prince entered the Parliament building, where the Queen gave her speech outlining the goals for this year's lawmaking body.

Visits In Amsterdam

After I left The Hague, I visited in Amsterdam one day with the Venselaar family who became friends of the Jetton family of New Market through packages sent after the war. They, too, made me very welcome and showed me many interesting places in Amsterdam. We

Do You Live Them?

If a student in a language class were asked to define the word "democracy," he would answer that it meant government of the people. In an effort to make democracy a working process on the campus, every student enrolled in the College is a member with full voting privileges in the Student Government Association.

The executive body of the Association, the Student Senate, is composed of members elected to the group by the various classes and by the student body as a whole.

A glance at the Constitution of the Student Government Association will reveal that "The purpose of the Association shall be to cultivate loyalty to the College; to encourage and maintain high standards of living and scholarship; to inculcate and foster college ideals and traditions; to cooperate with the governing bodies of the College in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the student body, within the jurisdiction of the Association; to give the student body practice in a democratic form of government."

These are the goals and ideals of the group to which everyone of you belong. Did you know them? But more important, do you live them?

We, of the student body, are too inclined to let the Student Senate carry the full responsibility of student government, when, in truth, they are only our elected representatives, not the whole Association.

Democracy will exist only as long as people are willing to work for it. Let us insure democracy for the future by doing our full part for democracy now.

—Thelma Buckley

Originality Will Count!

It takes all the students to make a Homecoming. It takes all the thought, planning, and work that each person—each group on the campus—can provide. Each year Homecoming is such a success—even from the previous years—that we find ourselves faced with a high example that we must not only live up to, but excel.

The organizations have the most stimuli of all—that of competition. This fact can be carried too far, virtually to the point of war! This year, however, limits have been set as to the financing of floats, etc., which will even up the score a bit. Now the originality of the members in these groups will have to come to the surface more than in past years. "Bigger and Better" will be replaced by "Less Costly, but Cute"! All in all, the quality of both the variety show and parade should be better. The dance, of course, always puts the cap on the weekend's bottle of exciting events. The one this year should be no exception—particularly if it is attended as well as those in previous years.

All of our efforts should be directed principally toward two groups, our alumni, whom we want to return to our campus with a sense of pride at our progress, and the freshmen, who we hope will want to remain with us and be part of our progress in the future.

—Mary Ann Ford

Make Sure!

Homecoming is drawing near. Will it be a success? That depends upon each student and faculty member. Homecoming requires a spirit of competition and participation from every organization and from each individual. Previous Homecomings have been gala events because there has been cooperation and enthusiasm.

If this fall is to have the biggest and the best Homecoming in NWMSC history, everyone will have to catch the contagious spirit that accompanies a holiday and makes it a success. This is our opportunity to show the returning alumni the best Homecoming they have ever known—make sure it will be!

Former Student Gives
Account of Naval OCS

The Northwest Missourian office recently received a letter from a graduate of last year, Dennis "Jerry" Shell. Jerry is now in a Naval Officer Candidate School at Newport, Rhode Island.

Jerry writes that OCS Candidate School is much different from the College in that candidates take six courses for four months. During this time, they must study from nearly forty books, pamphlets, and study guides. The courses cover proficiency in seamanship, orientation operations, navigation, engineering, and weapons.

According to Jerry, every free moment is spent studying in an effort to gather enough knowledge to pass daily tests. In addition to occasional study hours during the day, he has each evening a compulsory three hours in which to study. Jerry says, though, that this time is not nearly enough to really study and understand all the principles involved in military sciences.

Jerry ends his letter by saying that "consequently, one thinks of the relatively carefree days at College, where a person studied at his leisure and had time for social pursuit—not so here."

Jerry's address is as follows:

Susanne Haack from Germany Is
Studying on Campus this Year

By OPAL CARSON

Early in December, 1951, there appeared in the halls of the University at Hamburg, Germany, large placards which announced the following information: Students of special merit wishing to study abroad might, under the U. S. Information and Educational Exchange Act of 1948, receive one year of training in the United States.

Many students, no doubt, read the signs. Many were interested. But none more than a student of education from Zeven, Germany, our new friend on the campus, Susanne Haack.

Susanne went at once to the Campus Committee which handles all such affairs, and received the first of the many forms that were a part of the "weeding out" and selecting program. This filled form was placed in the hands of the American Consulate and Susanne sat back to wait. After three weeks she was interviewed, along with 300 other hopefuls, and was one of the thirty selected from this group for further consideration.

Again she waited, filled out forms, and handed in references. Then she learned that since she was from Zeven, she was not eligible to go under the Hamburg program, but must somehow switch to the group being examined in Hannover. With difficulty, this was managed, and months passed. The students now numbered twelve. Finally, they were promised definite news by May, then by June 18, and on July 19, Susanne was finally notified that she had been chosen.

After hurried preparations she was ready to depart on the fourth day of August.

One of fifty-two students on a plane leaving Amsterdam, Susanne joined another such group in New York City. These young people were divided into groups of ten and dispersed throughout the country. They next underwent a brief orientation program. During this time Susanne was a guest of the Harry Adler family, Glenview, Illinois.

Susanne says that the part of her journey that took the most courage was the ride on the night train from Chicago to Maryville. Here she had no group of fellow students near at hand, but for the first time since leaving home was completely on her own.

Susanne musings admits that she finds it a bit hard to say just what she does think of America. She finds the people extraordinarily friendly and warm-hearted, she says, and she is quite impressed with the rather informal air of good fellowship that seems to exist between instructors and students here.

On the other hand, it is an entirely new idea to her that going to college should be combined with so much fun! But although Susanne may find such things as juke-boxes and our lurid movie advertisements (and, incidentally, Walkout Day) quite strange to her, she says that for the one year that she is to be here, she wants to be really a part of it all. She has already purchased for herself a pair of blue jeans!

Louise Wintemute Writes
From Netherlands

went on a canal tour and saw many buildings dating from the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. We rode through the harbor in the glass-topped sight-seeing boat, and there we saw big ships from many countries.

We took a walk through the "entertainment part" of the city with all its small, old, and expensive places for eating and dancing. The canals, trees, old buildings, and busy atmosphere of Amsterdam make it a very interesting and beautiful place. I should like to go back there again and again.

Best Wishes from the Netherlands, Louise Wintemute.

Editor's Note: Louise Wintemute, a junior from Blackton, Iowa, is in Europe this year as a member of the Farm Youth Exchange program. The above letter is one she has written from a farm home in the Netherlands where she has been spending some time.

Position is Open for Agricultural Assistant

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced its annual examination for junior agricultural assistant. The jobs to be filled from this examination are agricultural economist, agricultural writer-editor, agronomist, animal husbandman, botanist, entomologist, fishery biologist, forester, geneticist, home economist, horticulturist, plant pathologist, plant quarantine inspector, poultry husbandman, soil scientist, zoologist, wildlife biologist, and zoologist.

Students who expect to complete their courses by June 30, 1953, may apply. Full information, including instructions on how to apply, may be obtained at the Placement Office or from the head of the department where the appropriate courses are given. Applications must be filed not later than October 21, 1952.

Foreign Positions Are
Open to U. S. Teachers

Today more than 200 teaching positions in other countries are available to qualified United States teachers.

Opportunities to teach abroad are chiefly of three types: (1) for the teacher whose school will grant leave of absence with salary, and will accept a foreign teacher as an exchange replacement; (2) for the teacher whose school will grant leave of absence without salary, but will pay a salary to a foreign replacement teacher; and (3) for the teacher not under contract or who can secure leave of absence without salary.

Details on all teaching positions in other countries will be furnished by the Federal Security Agency, Office of Education, Division of International Education, Washington 25, D. C. Applications should be submitted by teachers by October 16, 1952, to the International Division of the Office of Education.

Weddings

Jo Ann Outler, Northboro, Iowa, and Max Miller, Graham, were married in August at the Methodist church in Northboro. Max is the Phi Sigma Epsilon president this year, and Jo Ann, graduate of 1952, was the Delta Sigma Epsilon president.

Majorie Lewis, Cameron, and Melville Strong, Jr., Caryville, were married in June at the First Presbyterian Church in Maryville. Melville was graduated in May, 1950, and Marjorie, in the summer, 1952.

The Stroller

Although the Stroller thinks he knows everyone on the campus, there's one person he's missed. The initials are B. U. B. Anyone know him?

What happened to Joyce Twaddle Friday night? She missed the Sadie Hawkins' Dance, somehow.

WANTED: Someone I can beat in a ping pong game. Carol Tudder.

As the Stroller watched from behind a cornstalk, four determined couples danced the last hour of the Sadie Hawkins' Dance.

Over the weekend Melva Heits and Thelma Buckley made the long trek to Craig to dye, but got their signals mixed and forgot to do it.

Jackie Donaldson must have worked on that accent. It's more like Dietrich's every time.

All of those little green beans are now missing from the campus. As usual, there's talk of a beanie-burning at the Homecoming celebration. The consensus is that there won't be.

A number of old grads were back for the Springfield game. Their cheering and that of an inspired student body showed the Bearcats they really had backing.

Is there a new organization for girls on the campus? Someone has been talking a lot about the Palmettos.

The Stroller must extend his sympathy to Larry Belt for being forced to miss the last game of the World Series. Burl Walter had just a little better luck. He heard the after game commentary, as well.

Carolea Pritchard, a senior from Maryville, is the Independent Club's choice. Carolea is a major in elementary education.

Delta Sigma Epsilon has designated Agnes Steinhauer as their candidate for queen. Agnes, from Farnell, is a senior with a business major.

Mary Belle East, who was graduated from the College in the spring of 1952, is now a laboratory technician at Deaconess Hospital, Spokane, Washington. Mary Belle lives in a house occupied only by other student technicians. Her spare time is spent at one of the many mountain lakes close to the city.

Grants are made for one academic year and generally include round trip transportation, tuition, a living allowance and a small amount for necessary books and equipment.

Interested students presently enrolled in the College should request application forms from Dean W. A. Brandenburg, Fulbright Adviser. The closing date for receipt of applications by the adviser is October 31.

Eastern Illinois State Makes First Invasion Of Bearcat Territory

'Cats Play Host to Panthers In Second Game of the Series

In First Encounter at Charleston Last Year Panthers Gained 26-21 Victory Over Bearcats

For the first time, the Panthers of Eastern Illinois State College, Charleston, Ill., will invade Bearcat territory, October 18. This is the second year the two teams have been in competition.

Spectators may get some real thrills when these two teams oppose each other Saturday. Last year the Panthers won over the 'Cats 26-21; still local fans reported that it was a good game all the way.

Coach Ryland Milner stated that the Eastern Illinois team will probably use the T formation as they did last year. However, Maynard O'Brien, head football coach of the Charleston College team, is back after a year's leave of absence, and may have changed the team's strategy greatly.

Paul Foreman, quarterback; Jerry Osmer, halfback; and Dwayne Roy, tackle, are expected to turn in good performances for the Panthers in the coming game. All three are one-year lettermen.

Paul Tobin and George Coulter, co-captains, with their teammates—George Haws, Bob Hemenway, Don Palmer, Ono Monachino, Jim Gillette, Carl Leffingwell, Bob Dillon, and Don Black—will head the NWMS team. It is hoped that Kenny Stevens, who was injured in the William Jewell game, will be back in his old place as fullback.

Take Final Steps In Completion of Intramural Plans

The Men's Physical Education department is now completing the final steps of the new intramural program which will be introduced on the campus this semester.

Dr. H. D. Peterson and the Intramural Commission have divided the total male enrollment into eight groups. These groups will be based on the hometown areas of the students, and each group will be headed by a senior physical education major and an alternate, who will coach and direct the activities of each group.

A point system has been devised which is based on both team and individual participation. Points will be added to the individual intramural groups for participation in varsity inter-collegiate sports.

Within the next week a physical education major will contact the students who have been allotted to his group. There is no restriction on the number of activities a student may enter. The activities offered are aerial darts, badminton, basketball, free throws, golf, horse shoes, softball, shuffle boards, tennis, table tennis, volleyball, and swimming. Both singles and doubles competition is offered in aerial darts, badminton, horse shoes, tennis, and table tennis.

Horace Mann Defeats Craig Hornets, 49-14

The Horace Mann six-man football team won their first game in the No. 275 League play on Friday evening, October 3rd, when they defeated the Craig Hornets, 49-14. The Cubs played an improved game over their two previous encounters, one of which was tied, and the other lost. The Cubs now have a standing of one win, one loss and one tied game for their season's record.

Wayne Jackson, Cub junior, led the scoring with four touchdowns. Floyd Worley scored two touchdowns and Loran Colwell scored one six-pointer. Ronnie Cooksey dropped-kicked two attempts after touchdowns for four points and Richard Clement caught a pass for one point. The Cubs are under the direction of Coach Gordon W. Anderson, who is assisted by George Coulter and George MacLellan, student teachers.

Bearcats Drop Tilt To Rolla Miners, 21-6

The rampaging Rolla Miners charged to a 21-6 win over the Bearcats at Rolla, October 4, in the initial conference tilt for both clubs.

The Bearcats' cause was seriously weakened by the absence of alling Carl Leffingwell and the ejection from the game of five of the starting lineup for illegal use of the hands. During the game, Gil Obregon and Don Palmer were also injured, a fact which further weakened the Bearcat squad.

Paul Tobin crossed the line in the fourth quarter to chalk up the lone Bearcat touchdown. The Miners hit pay dirt twice in the first half and once in the second to notch the conference win.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baker are now the parents of a baby boy named Steven Lawrence. Dick is at present working in Mehnornay's store.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Steeby became the parents of a daughter, Pamela, in July. Mrs. Steeby is the former Irene Toland. Dean Steeby is teaching science in the Winterset High School at Winterset, Iowa.

Direct Women's P. E. Activities

P. E. Department Offers Wide Variety of Courses to Women

To the girl who possesses a genuine interest in athletic activities, the Women's Physical Education Department of the College offers a complete and well-integrated program of activities and training. Courses are offered in swimming, dancing, recreational activities, and in the various competitive athletics for women.

This year the department has twenty-three girls majoring in physical education. In most instances these girls would be qualified for coaching positions, although no emphasis is placed on preparation for this type of position. Miss Bonnie Magill positively stated that she was very much interested in having women coaches for women's sports, but as yet the practice was limited by the budgets of most high schools having a coeducational sports program.

Freshman Receive Orientation
The freshman classes in physical education receive a year long orientation course in the many different sections of women's physical education. The course is divided into units which deal with social dancing, soccer, the modern dance and body mechanics.

Sophomores are permitted to elect their courses from swimming, the major sports, social dancing, folk dancing, square dancing, and the modern dance. The first two years of the physical education program are designed primarily to enable the student to meet the physical education requirements of the College. This year, for the first time co-educational swimming classes are being offered to the students. Miss Bonnie Magill teaches the class in beginning swimming and Dr. H. D. Peterson teaches the class in intermediate swimming and in life-saving.

Three courses in physical education are offered to the students who are majoring in elementary education. These courses are Health Education for elementary Physical Education, Material Summary for Elementary Physical Education, and Physical Education for Elementary School Teachers.

Herbert Awe Has Law Scholarship

Herbert Awe, a member of last spring's graduating class who was offered scholarships in law by three large universities, Northwestern, Chicago, and Columbia in New York, is now studying at the first one, which is not far from his home in River Grove, Illinois.

Northwestern is quite a challenge according to Herbert, and is proud to be accredited a "rough" school. "One good thing here is that we are not coddled," writes the former Northwest Missourian editor, "and by that I mean that we are expected to do our work."

"In the first assignment we were told to brief a case. The instructor virtually said that here is a problem, analyze it, and then apply the results," he writes approvingly. Herbert expects to return to Maryville for Homecoming and thinks it will be good to get back to see so many people he knows.

Fighting 'Cats Spill Favored Springfield in 31-27 Contest

Maryville's supercharged Bearcats rolled to a 31-27 upset victory over the highly rated Springfield Bears at Maryville, Thursday night. The win was the first for the Bearcats in two MIAA conference games.

The Bearcats started strong and pushed over their first touchdown in the opening minutes of the initial period to give advance notice of their intended victory. It was combined passing efforts of George Coulter, Ono Monachino, Paul Tobin, and Bob Hemenway that set the stage for Dean Stuck's plunge across the goal line to give the Bearcats a 6-0 edge.

The Bears came back with a determined push that carried big John Batten across the line to knot the score and then Ben Koeneman put the visitors ahead with his conversion kick. The Bearcats finished out the first period with a touchdown by Ono Monachino, which came as a result of Bob Hemenway's pass. Ken Reynolds converted and the count was 13-7, Maryville.

The Bears surged back into the lead in the second quarter on Bob Jennings' touchdown and Koeneman's conversion. But the Bearcats rose to the occasion and drove home their third score with freshman Gil Obregon carrying the ball.

Bud Glazier and Jack Larson chalked up two touchdowns for the Bears in the third quarter and Ben Koeneman kicked one extra point while Paul Tobin was ringing up another six points for the Bearcats. As the third period ended the visitors from Springfield led 27-25. In the final quarter Gil Obregon scampered across the line to complete the scoring for the evening and to give the Bearcats their first win over the Springfield Bears in several years.

Had it not been for the able performance of the defensive team, Bob Dillon, Don Palmer, Bill Steele, Jim Swaney, George Haws, Gene Johnson, Ernie Hutchings, Garold Walker, Don Black, Stan Butt, Howard Davenport, and Bob Kariger, the score would probably have been quite different.

Band Revolts

Mr. John Smay's marching band gave an outstanding exhibition of fancy marching at the football game Thursday night. The band grew tired of precision marching and started cutting up, much to Drum Major Charles Watson's dismay.

After several flank movements and a dance step Charles became angry and left the field. The band then formed a large S O S in front of the stands, and "Helpful" Harry Yungshlager came to the rescue to lead the band from the field.

Mr. Johnson Announces Changes at Library

Mr. James Johnson, college librarian, announces that, with the recent addition of several student librarians, his staff is now complete. Students employed in the library are as follows: Angenette Adams, Mary Joy Groom, Ella Ray Hankins, Claire Johnson, Donna Jones, Betty Nazarene, Gilbert Obregon, Mary Richards, Ann Settle, Dorothy Sheets, Joe Sickels, and George Welch.

Also, says Mr. Johnson, students returning books at the end of this semester will find that a somewhat different arrangement has been made for the checking-in and housing of the textbooks. Hereafter, all text books will be kept in the college library. They will be turned in at that building at the end of this semester and withdrawn from there at the beginning of each new term.

An interesting item in the last issue of the bulletin published by the Missouri State Library Association states that an increasing number of students are enrolling in library science courses at various Missouri institutions. Of even greater interest is the fact that Northwest Missouri State College ranks third in the state in the number of students enrolled in courses of this nature.
